

Pressroom

Welcome to the COHRED Group's pressroom

COHRED has more than 15 years' experience in supporting countries to strengthen national health research. This brings unique insight on countries' needs and the issues that need to be addressed to improve the quality and relevance of research for health and innovation – at the national and global levels.

This pressroom offers background information, links to studies and data. We are always happy to discuss stories, provide information and interviews to the media.
